Income Protection When You Need It Most

The home you live in, the car you drive, the funding for education and retirement, the food you eat, the clothes you wear — your lifestyle is likely made possible through the income you earn.

This brochure from The Standard[‡] can help you decide how to protect your financial health if a disabling illness or accident prevents you from earning an income for an extended period of time. Inside, you'll find an overview of available options, suggested questions to ask your insurance representative or financial planner and some worksheets for calculating the level of income protection you would need in the event of a disability.

[‡] The Standard is a marketing name for StanCorp Financial Group, Inc., and subsidiaries. Insurance products are offered by Standard Insurance Company of Portland, Ore., in all states except New York, where insurance products are offered by The Standard Life Insurance Company of New York of White Plains, N.Y.

Note: For policies issued in New York. This policy provides disability income insurance only. It does not provide basic hospital, basic medical or major medical insurance as defined by the New York State Department of Financial Services. The expected benefit ratio is at least 55% for individual coverage and depending on the product purchased, at least 60% for guarantee issue coverage. This ratio is the portion of future premiums which The Standard expects to return as benefits when averaged over all people with the applicable policy.

Happen

Chances are you already purchase home, auto and life insurance to protect yourself against the threat of loss. And you probably have health insurance to guard against costly medical bills.

Have you taken steps to help shield yourself, your lifestyle and those who count on you from an unexpected loss of income?

Would you be able to meet your financial obligations if you became disabled and unable to work for an extended period of time?

The risk of disability is greater than most people realize. Just over one in four of today's 20-year-olds will become disabled before reaching age 67¹. And approximately 90% of disabilities are caused by illnesses rather than accidents—including back pain, cancer, and heart disease.²

The length of those disabilities is tending to increase. Take a look at the chart below. Could you manage financially for that length of time?

| Age | 1981 | 2012 | Increase |
|----------|-----------|-----------|----------|
| Under 40 | 4 years | 4.3 years | ▲ 8% |
| 40-44 | 4.3 years | 7.5 years | ▲ 74% |
| 45-49 | 4.6 years | 7.3 years | ▲ 59% |
| 50-54 | 4.5 years | 6.3 years | ▲ 40% |
| 55-59 | 3.5 years | 3.9 years | ▲ 11% |
| 60-64 | 1.8 years | 1.9 years | ▲ 6% |

What Financial Protection Is Available To Me If I Experience A Disabling Illness Or Accident?

State And Federal Assistance Programs

SSDI Benefits

Your salary and the number of years you have been covered under Social Security determine the amount of Social Security Disability Insurance (SSDI) benefits you can receive. The average monthly benefit from SSDI was just over $1,130 in 2013. In addition, the waiting time for the Social Security Administration to approve an SSDI claim can delay benefits for months.³

Workers' Compensation

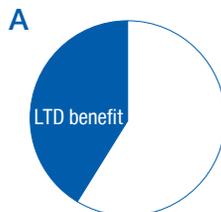

Workers' Compensation is state-mandated indemnity insurance which covers lost income and medical expenses when injuries or illnesses are work-related. Typically, these benefits are equal to two-thirds of predisability income.

Private Insurance

Long Term Disability Insurance

Long Term Disability insurance (LTD), also known as group disability insurance, can be available at the workplace through your employer. The most popular LTD programs provide 60 percent coverage of your base salary. LTD does not typically cover incentive income like bonuses. It is tied to your employment and benefits are usually taxable. Benefits payable generally are reduced by any payments received under programs like SSDI and Workers' Compensation.

Illustration A shows what percentage of after-tax income is typically covered with an LTD policy.⁴ The complete circle represents your total predisability income.

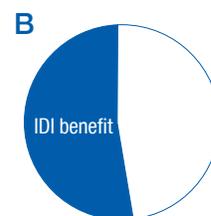

Individual Disability Income Insurance

Individual Disability Income insurance (IDI) also offers financial protection in the event of a long-term disability.

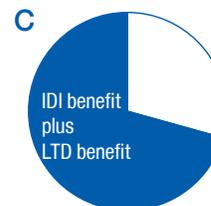

³ An Employer's Guide to Disability Income Insurance. America's Health Insurance Plans, 2014.

⁴ The example is a hypothetical illustration and is not intended as an offer of coverage. The actual benefit amount under Protector Platinum individual disability income insurance from The Standard is subject to underwriting issue and participation limits. Net income and benefit figures are less taxes, using a 25% tax bracket and assume employee-paid IDI, employer-paid LTD, and the most commonly purchased LTD policy that pays up to 60% of predisability annual gross salary.

IDI differs from LTD in that you own your policy, coverage is not tied to your employment, benefits are generally tax-free and incentive income, like bonuses, is covered. The amount of coverage available varies depending on your occupation and income. Below, illustration B shows how much IDI coverage might be available to someone with the same predisability income as in illustration A.

IDI can be your primary source of disability income insurance or it can be combined with LTD insurance for increased protection. Illustration C shows how much of your after tax income might be covered if existing LTD were combined with IDI.

Guarantee Issue Individual Disability Income Insurance

IDI can also be available to groups at the workplace where it is offered as Guarantee Issue Insurance. Guarantee Issue Insurance has the same advantages of regular IDI plus two more:

- The premiums for Guarantee Issue IDI are discounted at rates you cannot obtain otherwise
- Guarantee Issue is offered without regard to your medical history⁵, so if you are a participating employee or partner, you could obtain coverage for which you might not otherwise qualify

Business Owner Disability Insurance

Small business owners have special risks to consider should a disabling illness or accident prevent them from working to capacity or working at all.

⁵ Pre-existing conditions may be excluded from coverage for up to one year following the policy effective date.

Protect Your Income And Your Lifestyle

Taking the time now to plan your income protection could mean the difference between a secure future for you and those who depend on you, and a devastating financial burden should you find yourself coping with a long-term disability. At a time when you are dealing with a disability, the last thing you need is financial worries. With adequate disability income insurance you can focus your attention on recuperating, rather than on how to keep your home, or if your children need to leave school or put off their education.

How Much Disability Income Insurance Do I Need?

To calculate how much insurance you might need to protect your financial security, start by jotting down your current monthly expenses and the extra expenses you might have during a disability. Then calculate your anticipated sources of income. The difference between your anticipated income and expenses will help you determine how much disability income insurance might be a wise choice for you.

My Current Monthly Expenses

| | |
|---------------------------------------|----|
| Mortgage/Rent | $ |
| Groceries | $ |
| Clothing | $ |
| Utilities | $ |
| Medical Expenses | $ |
| Medical Insurance | $ |
| Credit Card Payments | $ |
| Auto Insurance | $ |
| Auto Maintenance & Fuel | $ |
| Home Maintenance | $ |
| Property Taxes | $ |
| Property Insurance | $ |
| Education | $ |
| Loans | $ |
| 401K/IRA/Retirement Funding | $ |
| Savings | $ |
| Other | $ |
| Total Current Monthly Expenses | $ |

As you think about how much income you might need at time of disability, consider how long disabilities are tending to last (pg.3) and that disability often brings additional expenses you may not currently have, such as those for COBRA medical premiums, housekeepers or aides.

My Estimated Additional Monthly Expenses At Time Of Disability

| | |
|---|----|
| Nanny/Housekeeper | $ |
| Aide | $ |
| COBRA | $ |
| Medical Expenses Not Covered By Insurance | $ |
| Total Extra Monthly Expenses | $ |

Total estimated monthly expenses at disability

$$1 + 2 = $$$

Next, add up all the monthly benefits you anticipate you might receive from public and private insurance, as well as income you might obtain from personal sources.

My Anticipated Monthly Income At Time Of Disability

| | |
|---|----|
| SSDI, Workers' Compensation | $ |
| Benefits From My Employer's Sick Pay Or LTD Insurance | $ |
| Family And Friends | $ |
| Withdrawals From Savings, Retirement And Education Accounts | $ |
| Withdrawals From Investments | $ |
| Other | $ |
| Total Expected Monthly Income | $ |

Subtract 3 (your estimated expenses at disability) from 4 (your estimated income at disability) to determine your total estimated monthly deficit. This will give you an idea of how much disability income insurance you might need.

Options For Small Business Owners

If you are a business owner, The Standard recognizes that you have special disability insurance needs. You may want access to additional individual disability insurance coverage. Our Business Owner Rewards program gives qualified business owners access to increased individual disability insurance coverage while at the same time enhancing benefits — and often reducing premiums.

Business Equity ProtectorSM

If you share ownership in your business with business partners, Business Equity Protector provides funds for the purchase of your ownership interest in the event you are totally disabled. This is important because even with a buy/sell agreement in place, a disability buy-out obligation can hit a business hard if the necessary funds are not available. This is especially true when the obligation comes at a time when the disabled partner is no longer able to contribute time or energy to the success of the business.

This product helps ensure you are paid what you are entitled to under your business buy/sell agreement, while allowing other owners to carry on with the business of doing business.

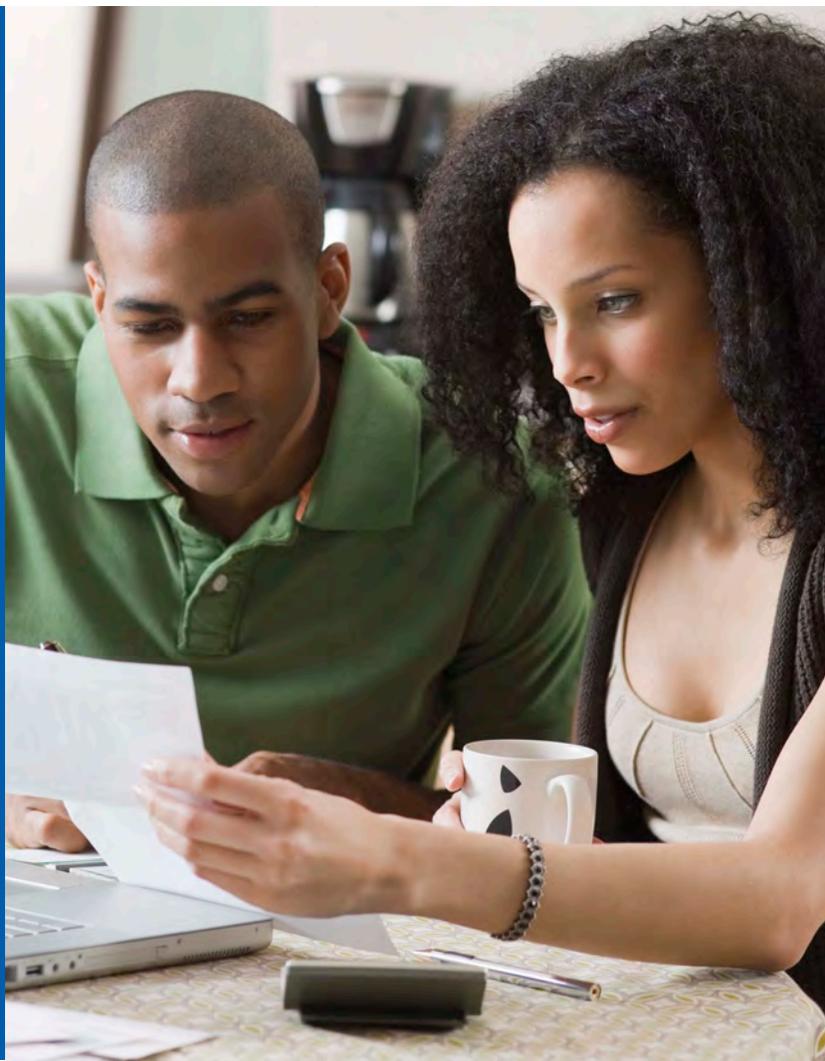

Business Overhead ProtectorSM

Business Overhead Protector business overhead insurance is designed for small business owners. It provides reimbursement for business overhead expenses such as mortgage interest or lease payments, employee wages, utilities and business insurance premiums. Even the salary of someone hired to perform your duties while you are disabled may be covered by this policy.
